Global Information, Local Access

2013 DANJ Fall Conference

The Documents Association of New Jersey promotes the use of and access to government publications in libraries in the NJ area.

Our objectives are:

- To provide a forum for discussion of problems and concerns, and for the exchange of ideas by librarians working with government information;
- To provide a force for initiating and supporting programs that promote access to, use, and bibliographic control of documents;
- To increase communication among documents personnel and other library personnel;
- To contribute to the continuing education and training of librarians working with government information.

DANJ participates in various activities.

- State, Federal, and International Documents Interest Groups hold meetings several times each year to discuss current issues and initiate projects in their areas of interest.
- DANJ publishes a newsletter three to four times a year.
- The association holds an annual conference.
- It also sponsors educational programs.

All are welcome to attend the bi-monthly meetings. For times and locations see:

Conference Speakers

IAIN WATT

Chief, Dag Hammarskjöld Library at United Nations

Iain Watt has been Chief of the Dag Hammarskjöld Library since February 2013. He was previously head of service of the Library of the European Parliament, head of Reader Services at the Public Record Office (UK) and worked in the public library services of the City of Westminster and the London Borough of Camden. He was Secretary to the IFLA Section for Library & Research Services for Parliaments 2007-09. Iain was educated at Edinburgh University (Politics), London School of Economics (Political Sociology), Polytechnic of North London (Librarianship) and the Open University (MBA).

SUSAN KURTAS

Librarian, Dag Hammarskjöld Library at United Nations

Susan Kurtas earned her MLIS from the University of Pittsburgh in 2004 and joined the United Nations in 2005. She has been working as a reference librarian throughout that time, with responsibility for maintaining and updating the UN Documentation Research Guide and other online tools.

MARY FETZER

Deputy Associate University Librarian for Research and Instructional Services Alexander Library, Rutgers University

Mary Fetzer has worked with federal, state, and international documents for many years at Rutgers' Alexander Library. While she co-authored an edition of Introduction to United States Government Information Sources with the late Joe Morehead, her passion has tended toward international documents. Her thesis for her Master's degree in political science was on United Nations documentation, and she continued to present seminars and to write articles in that area. In 2002 she received the ACRL/Congressional Quarterly Marta Lange/CQ Award for contributions to bibliography in law and political science. From 2009-2011 Mary served as Interim Associate University Librarian for Research and Instructional Services at Rutgers, and now serves as its Deputy AUL-RIS.

ELIZABETH PATTERSON

Government Documents and Reference Librarian, Drew University

Dr. Patterson has worked with Government Documents for over 20 years, as a student, staff, and professional Librarian. Currently, she is the Government Documents and Reference Librarian at Drew University Library. Prior to returning to the Drew Library in 2005, Beth worked with government information in the health field as a research librarian in industry. Beth received B.A. in French Literature and a Ph.D. in history from Drew University and her M.L.I.S. from Rutgers.

EMILY C. RILEY

Ph.D Candidate, Princeton University

Emily Riley is a second-year Ph.D. student in the Department of History at Princeton University. She received her B.A. in History and Economics from Ohio University in 2012. She studies post-1945 European history, focusing on financial history during post-World War II reconstruction. Her research has taken her to archives in the United States and Italy, including the US National Archives, the United Nations Archives, Italy's Archivio Centrale dello Stato and Archivio Storico della Banca d'Italia, and extensive research in the World Bank's online collections (soon to be followed by work in their physical collections), as well as work at Princeton's Mudd Library.

CARLOS L. YORDAN

Associate Professor of Political Science, Drew University

Dr. Yordan is Associate Professor of Political Science. He earned his Ph.D. in International Relations at the London School of Economics. At American University, he completed a M.A. in International Peace and Conflict Resolution Studies and a B.A. in International Studies. He joined the Department in August 2005. Prior to Drew University, Carlos taught at the University of Alabama at Birmingham and Hamilton College. He also was a Visiting Scholar at Cornell University's Peace Studies Program and a Visiting Fellow at Rutgers-Newark's Division of Global Affairs.

JIM CHURCH

Economics, Development Studies, Political Economy and International and Foreign Government Information Librarian, University of California Berkeley

Jim Church is the librarian for Economics, Development Studies, Political Economy and International and Foreign Government Information at the University of California Berkeley. Prior to that he served as the State, Local and United Nations Documents librarian at UC San Diego and the Librarian for Economics and Intergovernmental Information at Yale. He began working in libraries at Princeton University where he served as the manager of the United Nations collection under Susan White. Jim has authored numerous journal articles, two book chapters, and presented at many conferences on international governmental and nongovernmental information. Most recently, at the 2013 IFLA World Library and Information Congress in Singapore, he conceived and organized the Government Information and Official Publications Section (GIOPS) paper session entitled Information for Development Action: Governments, Civil Society and Libraries.

JEREMY DARRINGTON
Politics Librarian, Princeton University

Jeremy Darrington is the Politics Librarian in Princeton University's Firestone Library. He joined the Library in September 2010. Jeremy earned a BA in international studies from Brigham Young University and a Masters in Library and Information Science from the University of Washington. He also has an MA and is ABD in political science from UC Berkeley. Jeremy's academic interests include European politics, technology in libraries, government transparency and access to government information, open data, and digital privacy. Outside of the library, Jeremy spends most of his time volunteering in his church and spending time with his wife and 4 children.
